Dattatray G Takale

My name is Dr. Dattatray, and I work as Assistant Professor in the Department of Computer Engineering at Vishwakarma Institute of Information Technology in Pune, India. I hold a PhD in computer science and engineering. Total teaching experience: ten or more years of teaching and research. My research interests include Machine Learning, Data Science, Wireless Sensor Networks, Natural Language Processing, Data Warehousing, Mining, Computer Networks, and Network Security. I am currently worked at VIIT Pune as an Assistant Professor. I have over 6 years of teaching and 3 years of industry experience. I have 40 patents, 50+ research articles, and have authored or edited four or more books with Springer, CRC Press, and other local and international publishers. As an Assistant Professor at VIIT Pune, continues to inspire students, contribute to cutting-edge research, and change the future.